CEU Open Learning Initiative (OLIve)

CEU Weekend Courses for Refugees

Central European University invites refugees and asylum seekers in Hungary to apply for our Spring Term beginning April 2, 2016. Our program includes English courses, academic tutoring to help students prepare applications to university, an introduction to life and culture in Hungary, a course on ‘Critical Approaches to Culture’ including a media skills workshop, a participatory film-making workshop, a course on business and entrepreneurship in Hungary, and a theater and performance workshop.

Courses are held on Saturdays, at CEU’s campus in downtown Budapest.

For students who are studying at OLIve currently, please register by March 15, 2016.

For all other students, please register by March 22, 2016.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE?

All refugees and asylum seekers registered in Hungary are welcome! You will be asked to show proof of your refugee or asylum seeker status. Please note that this is not a degree program, and will not offer entry to CEU degree programs.

COURSES

English classes at 3 levels - Elementary, Intermediate and Advanced
Critical Approaches to Culture, Media and Politics - http://bit.ly/1Q1AnZb

HOW TO REGISTER

1. Check out our course information at www.ceu.edu/olive
2. Fill in the registration form at www.ceu.edu/olive_registration_spring
3. We will send an email confirmation.

You can also follow our Facebook page CEU OL I ve - Weekend courses for refugees or email us on ceurefugeecourses@ceu.edu