The Department of Economics and the WEast Initiative cordially invites you to the keynote lectures of the conference

Historical sources of development in Central and Eastern Europe

The lectures are:

Şevket Pamuk (Bogaziçi University, Istanbul): Debasements in Europe, East and West, and Their Causes, 1500-1800

Nikolaus Wolf (Humboldt University of Berlin): The Economics of Density: Evidence from the Berlin Wall

Friday, January 9, 4.30 PM at CEU Auditorium

About the speakers:

Şevket Pamuk is Professor of Economics and Economic History and Director of the Ataturk Institute for Modern Turkish History at Bogaziçi University, Istanbul. He is the author of many books and articles on Ottoman, Middle East and European economic history. Pamuk was Professor at the London School of Economics from 2008 through 2013. He was the President of European Historical Economics Society and is currently the President of Asian Historical Economics Society and the Editor of European Economic History Review.

Nikolaus Wolf is the Director of the Institute of Economic History at the Humboldt University of Berlin and is also affiliated with The Centre for Economic Policy Research (CEPR), CESifoInstitute (Munich) as well as The Centre for Economic Performance at LSE. He is the editor of some of the most prestigious economic history journals such as the Journal of Economic History and the Economic History Review. His research focuses particularly on international trade history, economic integration and the economics of war and peace.