Series of Migration & Security Seminars
of Center for Environment and Security in association with
Institute of Sociology and Social Policy Corvinus University

Presents:
Integration policy on EU, National and Local level:
Opportunities and Limitations

Chair: Irina Molodikova, CEU

Presenters:

Elizabeth Collett, Director of Migration Policy Institute (MPI) – Europe, Brussels
Elizabeth Collett is Director of MPI-Europe and Senior Advisor to MPI's Transatlantic Council on Migration and her work focuses in particular on European migration and immigrant integration policy. Her published works include Emerging Transatlantic Security Dilemmas in Border Management (2011), A New Architecture for Border Management (co-author, 2011), Immigrant Integration in a Time of Austerity (2011), and Soft, Scarce, and Super Skills: Sourcing the Next Generation of Migrant Workers in Europe (co-author, 2008).

Attila Melegh, Professor at the Corvinus University, Hungary
Attila Melegh associate professor at the Institute Sociology and Social Policy, Corvinus University of Budapest, professor at Pal Tomori College as the head of international studies program, and also works for the Demographic Research Institute as senior researcher. Author of books in English and Hungarian, and over a hundred scientific publications including articles in peer reviewed, internationally acknowledged journals.

Verena Krobisch, Researcher at the European Forum for Migration Studies, Germany
The European Forum for Migration Studies (EFMS) is a scientific institute at the University of Bamberg. It's main topics are migration and integration of migrants in Europe. Ms Krobish studied sociology with the main emphasis on sociology of migration and inter-ethnic relations, demography, social policy at the Otto-Friedrich University of Bamberg and the Universidad Complutense de Madrid, Madrid (Spain).

We are waiting for you on the 16th February, 2012 in the CEU, Nador 11, ground floor, TIGY auditorium - 006, 17:15.
The event is followed by reception