THE END OF IMPUNITY

Introduction: John Shattuck, President and Rector
Chair: Renata Uitz, Professor, Department of Legal Studies
Chair, Comparative Constitutional Law Program

Date: Tuesday, March 20, 2012
Time: 5:30 p.m.
Venue: Auditorium (CEU, Nador u. 9.)

The masterminds of atrocity crimes in modern times are facing fewer choices as war crimes tribunals and outraged citizens seek justice. David Scheffer, the first U.S. Ambassador-at-Large for War Crimes Issues and author of a new book, All the Missing Souls: A Personal History of the War Crimes Tribunals, discusses atrocity crimes past, present, and future, and how the fate of indicted leaders will be an international trial, or vengeful retribution. Scheffer argues that the choice is no longer peace or justice, and that the days of impunity can be brought to an end in the 21st century.
