Morgan Stanley is conducting a Mock Assessment Center for university students for the third time, where you can acquire invaluable experience regarding how an international bank does its recruiting.

The approximately 4-hour long English speaking event is organized for you to test your cooperative and communication skills as well as your professional knowledge around financial products, accounting and controlling. All candidates are given personal Hungarian/English feedback about their performance at the end of the event.

Apply, try yourself and start preparing for your real career with this invaluable opportunity.

This program is not part of the real application procedure!

If you feel like applying you can do so by sending an English version of your CV and motivation letter to:

adam.banai@morganstanley.com