

Rules and principles by which the STRG Committee decides upon individual student conference travel budgets.

Budgets for conference travel will be based upon the following principles:

1. Allowable travel expenses will be calculated based upon the least expensive, reasonable travel option. For instance, if Wizz Air or another budget airline flies to the destination, the Committee will award travel expenses based upon the costs of that airline. If the destination is within a reasonable distance for train travel the Committee will base the award on the costs of rail.
2. Allowable accommodation expenses will be calculated based upon the least expensive accommodation for students in the particular country and city they are traveling to, including youth hostels.
3. Awards for students traveling to the same conference will be equal and based upon the lowest cost budget.
4. Supplementary awards of up to 300 euros will be given in special circumstances, including for students needing child care, special needs students, and for unique and professionally highly important travel after a student has exhausted the regular travel grant allocation.
