The Babits Lectures
by Prof. Dr. Galin Tihanov
(Queen Mary, University of London)

March 22–26, 2012

Thursday, March 22, 2012
10:30 Mikhail Bakhtin’s Discovery and the Lessons It Holds for Us
13:30 Russian Émigré Literary Theory and Criticism between the World Wars

Friday, March 23, 2012
10:30 Cosmopolitanism in the Discursive Landscape of Modernity
16:00 Exilic Inscriptions: Literary Experiences in the Age of Transnationalism (CEU)

Monday, March 26, 2012
11:00 Ideas of Europe in Twentieth-Century Germany: From Simmel to Spengler and Hans Freyer

Lectures are organized by the Institute of Cultural Studies and Hungarian Literature at ELTE in cooperation with the Department of History at Central European University, and will take place at János Horváth Lecture Hall, room 329, building "A", at Eötvös Loránd University (H-1088 Budapest, Múzeum krt. 4.), except "Exilic Inscriptions" that will be delivered at Central European University’s TIGY Room (H-1051 Budapest, Nádor u. 9.).

Syllabus and other relevant materials are available on the website of the Faculty of Humanities of ELTE (http://www.btk.elte.hu) and on the website of the Association for General Literary Studies (http://www.aitk.hu).